Mussolini Fires Italian War General In East Africa

DUCE SHAKES UP MILITARY COMMAND

Haile Selassie Orders 'No Retreat'; Sends Arms To Natives

By The Associated Press

It Duce effected a general shakeup today in the high military command conducting his campaign in Ethiopia.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of the general army staff, was named Italian high commissioner for East Africa, replacing Gen. Emilio De Bono in the office that carries leadership of the Fascist forces in their invasion of Ethiopia.

Virtual retirement in honor seemed the lot of the 69-year-old white bearded De Bono.

Back to Italy

A quadrumvir of the Fascist party—one of the four who led the famous march on Rome—and an old friend of Premier Mussolini, he was called back to Italy to be created a marshal of the highest military rank.

Although Mussolini had expressed satisfaction with the Ethiopian campaign, which has given Italy Ethiopia's Northern Tigre province and has driven a wide wedge into the Southern Empire, the turn-over followed by only a week Marshal Badoglio's return from an east African tour of inspection.

Change Unexplained

Officially, the changes—which also brought appointment of General Guzzoni, a corps commander in Italy, as vice governor of Eritrea—went unexplained.

Caravan scouts brought word to the Italian leaders at Makale that Emperor Haile Selassie had given orders there must be "no retreat" from Amba Alaji. The message was accompanied by 6000 rifles.

Makale Italian headquarters also learned the elusive Ras Seyoum had neared Antalo with his troops, midway between Makale and Amba Alaji.

The scouts also said Ethiopian chiefs in Gojjam and Jimma provinces favor former Emperor (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Angling For Fat P. O. Plum Starts; Many Seek Post;

By PAUL VISSMAN

Political angling for the fattest plum on the Orange county tree started yesterday with the announcement that Postmaster T. E. Stephenson had resigned from his federal post to accept appointment as county treasurer to complete the unfilled term of the late E. B. Trago.

Old line Democrats, just plain Democrats and even Democrats who recently severed connections with the Republican party, started individual drives for appointment as Mr. Stephenson's successor.

Mr. Stephenson's term in office was scheduled to end Jan. 25, 1936. Judge John G. Mitchell, chairman of the Orange County Democratic Central committee, said today that in view of the short time remaining of Mr. Stephenson's term, it is not likely that Postmaster General Farley will name his successor at this time. Judge Mitchell said it is probable that Mr. Farley will name First Assistant Postmaster Flake Smith head of the office until Jan. 26.

Judge Mitchell said he expects to call a meeting of the county central committee within a few days to consider candidates for the postmastership. From the list of applicants one will be recommended to Senator William Gibbs McAdoo for appointment.

With almost everyone who ever voted the Democratic ticket or even lived next door to a Democrat, seeking appointment, the committee will be faced with a difficult task in making its selection. Had it been possible to defer action until the regular time

Presidential approval for California public works projects, including three in Orange county costing a total of $81,178, was announced today by the secretary of agriculture, Associated Press dispatches said.

The local projects are all highway jobs to be carried out with federal and state funds. They include the widening of South Main street between Delhi road and Fairview avenue, at a federal cost of $32,640, and a state cost of $15,543, to be taken from this county's first one-quarter cent allocation of gasoline tax money. Announcement of state approval of the project was made some time ago.

At Orange the state highway from Maple to Almond streets will be improved by laying a bituminous concrete surface. The federal cost will be $12,100 and the state outlay $10,973. Batavia street in Orange, between La Veta and Walnut streets, will be graded and paved. Federal funds will amount to $6800 on this project and the state's share will be $3122.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Two American songs were the musical inspiration today for a review of 10,000 Waigala troops before Emperor Haile Selassie. As the troops passed before the throne a band played "Dixie" and "St. Louis Blues."

TAXIS BIG MEXICO MENACE

S.A. Woman Tells Adventures

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Americans may think Mexico is slow, but after dodging wild riding taxi drivers in Mexico City, Mrs. Marian Loerch of Santa Ana prefers the peace and quiet of an American metropolis.

People talk about the danger of going into a foreign country torn by revolution, but Mrs. Loerch has just returned from a seven-weeks trip into the primitive districts of Mexico. Her only protection on the journey was another woman. She got more shivers and thrills out of watching and dodging taxis than she did out of dodging revolutions.

Reports from Mexico City say it is boiling underneath and no one knows when the explosion may come. Communist tendencies are evident, and vast haciendas are being divided up among the Indian peasants. Unrest is everywhere. But in telling of her trip, Mrs. Loerch brushed these things aside. The reports may be true and they may not, she said.

Mexico City is a place for action if you want to play hide and seek with taxis driving 70 miles an hour without traffic rules, but the places Mrs. Loerch likes to talk about are Oaxaca, 350 miles south of Mexico City, which contains "the most beautiful church in the world," Taotetlan, a primitive village where she went with her sister-in-law, Clara Mohr of Hollywood, to buy the best serapes in the world, and the Monte Alban ruins between Oaxaca and the west coast, where one of the most

MONEY IS CHECKED

Regrets Sudden Death Of Predecessor, E. B. Trago

Immediately after taking charge of the office of county treasurer, to which he was appointed by the board of supervisors yesterday, succeeding the late E. B. Trago, Terry Stephenson, former postmaster here, re-appointed all deputies in the office. They are Miss Gladys Fifield, chief deputy, and Miss Katherine McKenzie and Miss Gladys Young, clerks.

County Auditor William Lambert and his deputy, Lester Eckel, and Treasurer Stephenson then checked over all county funds, and according to the report signed by Auditor Lambert, Mr. Stephenson received a total of $2,220,398.66.

Regrets Death

In a statement issued today, Mr. Stephenson expressed regret at the death of his friend, Mr. Trago. He said:

"I regret exceedingly the occasion that has brought me to the treasurer's office. Mr. Trago had been a friend of mine for more than 25 years and I esteemed him highly for his sound integrity, straightforward honesty and good nature. The fact that he had so many hundreds of friends in this county where he lived, all of whom had only good words for him, is proof of what I know to be true that 'Tobe' Trago was an exceptionally fine citizen and man."

Two Years In Job

Mr. Stephenson was appointed to the office shortly after noon yesterday, a few hours after the death of Mr. Trago. The appointment was made immediately at the suggestion of District Attorney W. F. Menton, who advised against opening the office until a new treasurer had been appointed. Mr. Stephenson has approximately two years of Mr. Trago's term to fill.

He was nominated for the post by Supervisor William Smith and was elected by a vote of four to one, N. E. West, supervisor from the fifth district, nominating and voting for Eugene Fenelon, Newport Beach.

Here Since 1884

Mr. Stephenson has lived in Orange county almost continuously since 1884 and has been active in business and public affairs for many years. He was appointed postmaster in 1923 by President Warren Harding and served in that capacity until yesterday when he sent his resignation to Postmaster General James A. Farley by telegram.

He was born in San Antonio, Tex., in 1880, and came here with his family four years later. He graduated from Santa Ana High school in 1898 and from Stanford university in 1902. Following his graduation from the university he worked for one year as a reporter (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

WATER PLAN DEAD, SAYS SUPERVISOR

Mitchell Sees Little Hope For Project In Present State

MAY VOTE IN APRIL

Riverside Offer Called Useless; County Hasn't Needed Authority

Unless the impossible happens, Orange county's water project is dead in its present form.

Riverside county has asked the impossible of Orange county in return for its consent to building of the Prado dam in Riverside county.

While expressing the hope that in some way an agreement can be worked out, Chairman John Mitchell of the board of supervisors said today that in view of present conditions he doesn't see much chance for the Orange county water program except another bond election in April, to be called by the flood control district instead of the county.

Riverside's Offer

Riverside county yesterday, through its district attorney, Earl Redwine, suggested a basis on which it would agree to building of the Prado dam. Riverside county would like an agreement by Orange county that Riverside county may continue to spread water on the Santa Ana river debris cone as it has in the past. Mr. Redwine suggested that the Orange county supervisors put this agreement in the form of a resolution.

"Well, we can't do that," said Chairman Mitchell today. "We're not vested with water rights. We do not have the legal power to make such a concession. The county water district might be able to, but the supervisors cannot. I don't believe the board would do it even if it had the power. The Riverside board couldn't enter such an agreement either. But I still hope Riverside county will give us the right to hold an election."

Scoffs At Anti-Red Teaching

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt feels the capital's teachers are going to have a hard time telling their pupils anything about Russia.

Only yesterday, Comptroller General J. R. McCarl held that none of the 4000 school employees in the District of Columbia could draw pay unless they signed statements asserting they had not taught or advocated Communism either inside or outside of school. What he meant by "taught" was not certain.

At her press conference today, Mrs. Roosevelt envisaged a teacher saying to her geography class something like this: "Here is an area two times the size of the United States. It is lived in by a people called Russians," and letting it go at that, unless some bright child might conceivably say, "what kind of government do they live under?" Then, she added, "It might be possible the teacher would have to say, 'my dear child, I cannot tell you.'"

With the comment that her definition of the verb "to teach" could not be of any value to teachers in the District of Columbia, Mrs. Roosevelt gave it: "To teach, I think, means to tell people about something. I do not think it means to advocate anything."

Minnesota Juggernaut Overwhelms Michigan; Still Undeclared

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Nov. 16. (AP)—Scoring a touchdown with scarcely 30 seconds to go, aided by interference on a long pass, Notre Dame scored a tie with Army today in a thrilling football battle before 80,000 spectators, including former President Hoover. The final score was 6 to 6, as Wally Fromhart, Irish quarterback, missed the kick for extra point.

Army scored its touchdown in the first period on a 41-yard pass, Monk Meyer to Ed Grove, then waged a brilliant fight in defense of its lead until the closing moments of the game.

Penalty Big Help

Two long aerial shots at the goal line, with the ball on Army's 29, had failed before Bill Shakespear hurled another long pass to Wayne Miller, Irish end. The ball was grounded, but officials ruled Ed Grove, Cadet back, had fouled Miller. The pass was ruled complete on Army's two-yard line and Larry Danbon, substitute back, dived over the line for the tying touchdown.

Fromhart's kick for the extra point, like Grove's for Army, sailed wide of the uprights.

Monk Meyer Stars

Monk Meyer was the game's outstanding star. Besides his great kicking and touchdown pass, the Army backfield ace turned in a dazzling 49-yard run in the final period, longest of the day.

The News quoted an unnamed friend of the slain German industrialist as disclosing that Dr. Gebhardt told Miss Stretz: "This can't go on. I can't go into public life and carry you along." Filing False Affidavit With Auditor Also Is Allegation Supervisor N. E. West announced today that he had sent a letter to the foreman of the 1935 grand jury, now in session, asking that body to investigate an alleged shortage in the funds of Miss Justine Whitney, county recorder for the past 20 years.

The asserted shortage is said to be $1725. Mr. West in his letter also intimated that "there is some difficulty" and that her report for the month of October has not yet been filed with the auditor. She added that Mr. West has never been friendly toward her office since her refusal, some months ago, to purchase a certain typewriter make recommended by him.

John C. Mitchell, chairman of the board of supervisors, said that at the board session Nov. 12 he had informed board members that a shortage in the recorder's accounts had been rumored and in his opinion, the matter should be turned over to the district attorney for investigation.

District Attorney W. F. Menton was called before the board and instructed to investigate the rumor. He said today that the investigation is being made and that Miss Whitney had been in his office for some time this forenoon.

PRESIDENT TO HEAR PLANS FOR DRIVE

Senator Wagner Tells Proposal; Ten-Year Program Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—A 10-year slum clearance and low-rent public housing program with an appropriation close to $1,000,000,000 to start it off is under discussion in the Roosevelt administration.

Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) who was prominently identified with the social security, labor disputes and railway pensions measures, said he had talked over the idea with President Roosevelt in a general way and will go into it in more detail when the President returns from his Thanksgiving trip to Warm Springs, Ga.

Not Emergency Plan
"This would not be an emergency proposition, but a definite 10-year plan," Wagner said. He asserted such a program had been "a boon" to the building industry and persons with low incomes in England and European countries and undoubtedly would have tremendous economic and social advantages if undertaken in the United States.

"It is in slums where disease and crime is spread," he said. Wagner thought it would be a good idea to consolidate the existing "scattered" housing agencies in the interior department and re-settlement administration.

No More Funds Needed
He said he believed there would be no necessity for additional work relief appropriations at the next session of congress and that money for social betterment could now be turned to such things as housing for the poor and middle classes.

He has a bill pending which he hopes will form the basis for discussion. It would create a permanent division of housing in Secretary Ickes' department. The new agency could make grants and loans to local public housing bodies for low-rent and slum eradicating projects.

need Riverside county's consent, but it is necessary if the county calls an election, in the opinion of expert bond attorneys. The flood control district cannot call an election until next April, the law provides. By that time the $6,574,000 federal grant for the water project will have faded away. It will expire Dec. 20.

"Sooner or later we're going to have flood control and water," said Mr. Mitchell, "and the people will have to pay for the entire cost if we lose the federal grant. If Riverside county doesn't grant the county permission to hold the election, the only step open to us will be to wait until April, when the flood control district can call another election."

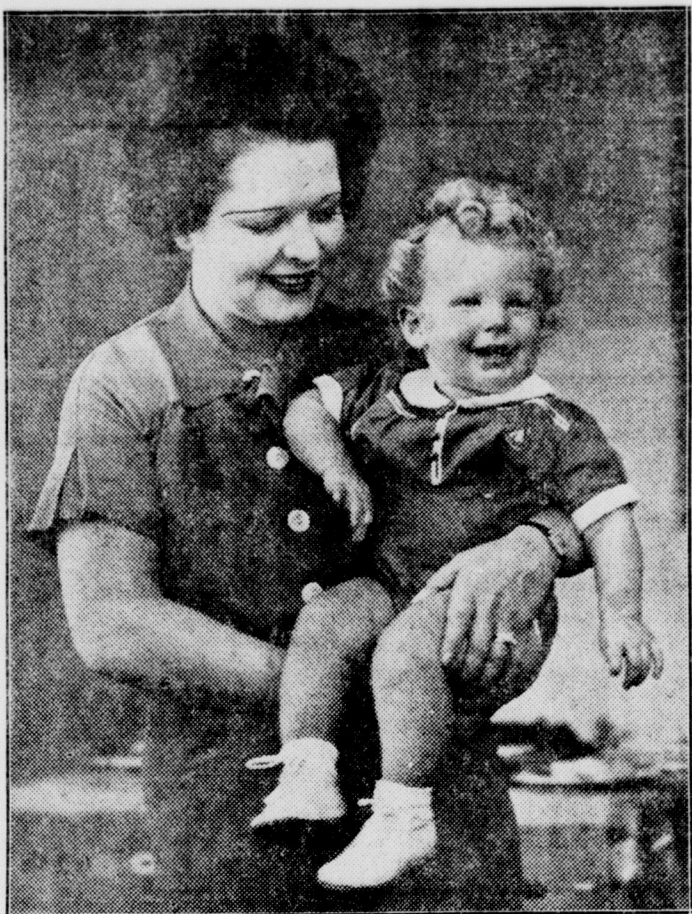

Lyon's Interpretation
Supervisor LeRoy Lyon of Anaheim said that his understanding of the agreement proposed by Mr. Redwine was that Orange county should not attempt to interfere with existing water rights established by Riverside county. On that basis, he said, Orange county could logically enter such an agreement. But he said that if it was proposed that Orange county agree to Riverside county's continued spreading as in the past, that was another matter entirely.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome said he agreed with Chairman Mitchell that Orange county's supervisors have no legal right to make the proposed agreement on water spreading.

Sees Court Decision
"That is nothing that lies within the province of the board of supervisors," said Mr. Jerome. "I have not yet had a chance to look over Mr. Redwine's suggestion, but those things have to be settled finally by a court decree. I don't know what our board could do that would be legally binding upon the county."

Willis Warner, chairman, and C. A. Palmer, secretary of the county water district, said that while the district might have the

II Duce accompanied his military move with a final gesture of defiance against League of Nations economic penalties.

He summoned the Fascist grand council into session at midnight—just 24 hours before economic sanctions go into effect—to set Italy's course against the boycott and key products embargo.

The Grand council, a Mussolini organism which thrust all other governing bodies of Italy into secondary places, is the nearest thing the nation has to a unit which could assume executive power in the event of II Duce's death or disability.

J. H. Metzgar Succumbs Here As He Begins His Day's Work

His day's work already begun, Joseph H. Metzgar, 58, an employee of the First National bank for the past 25 years, dropped dead at his teller's desk this morning just after 8 o'clock.

Mr. Metzgar had just taken his hat off after arriving and had been chatting for several minutes with Francis Hill and Paul Eby, fellow employees at the bank.

As he turned to go out of his cage into another one, he lurched forward and was caught by Mr. Eby, before he fell to the floor. Dr. D. A. Harwood said death was due to a heart attack.

The family was not aware that Mr. Metzgar suffered from a heart ailment of any sort, they said. He lived at 816 Bush street.

The deceased came to Santa Ana 25 years ago. He had lived in California for 30 years. Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., he attended schools there. First associated with the First National bank, he was employed for some time by the Farmers-Merchants Savings bank, before returning to the First National.

He was a member of Elks lodge No. 794 and Silver Cord lodge of Masons.

Surviving are his wife, Jean, his daughters, Mrs. Henry Minge and Miss Eleanor Metzgar, and his brother, James Metzgar, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. I. D. Keith, Berkeley, a sister.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at Smith and Tutill chapel.

fifth day of the month. Apparently $1725 is due to be turned over to the auditor.

"May Not Be Serious"
"If it is merely a question of Miss Whitney's failure to comply with the law in filing her reports that, while negligence, is not a false affidavit, and cannot be construed as embezzlement of public funds."

"There is no evidence that the money has been misappropriated. It has not been accounted for. Of course, if Miss Whitney cannot make her report and turn over the money then I shall have to take steps to collect from her bondsmen."

County Auditor William Lambert said that while Miss Whitney's report for October has not yet been filed she has never filed a false affidavit with his office and her funds have always been checked accurately each month. Frequently, however, her reports are delayed, he said.

Funds Are Fees
Funds collected by the County recorder are fees for the filing of land deeds, mortgages, leases, agreements and other documents for public record. These fees are retained in custody of the recorder until the fifth of the month following collection when that officer is required to deposit the cash with the county treasurer and an affidavit of deposit with the county auditor. The affidavit is then checked by the auditor against the deposit.

Miss Whitney has been county recorder for the past 20 years, having been re-elected for a four-year term in 1934. Formerly a newspaperwoman, connected with the Daily Californian in Bakersfield and the old Evening Blade of Santa Ana, Miss Whitney first entered the recorder's office March 1, 1903, as a deputy. She served in that capacity until 1914 when she was elected recorder, taking over the office in 1915.

MORE ABOUT DIVORCE

Forgy Reinhaus and Forgy Charles Swanner, Santa Ana attorney, was counsel for Mr. Hill.

Named Trust Company
When he filed his divorce suit, Mr. Hill also named as co-defendant the First Trust Company of St. Paul, trustees of a trust created for his wife at the time a reconciliation was effected after Mrs. Hill had filed suit for divorce in Montana. Mr. Hill asked that the trust be dissolved and securities in the fund be returned to him.

At the hearing yesterday the case was dismissed with prejudice as to the trust company, and the securities turned over to Mrs. Hill. The trust fund was created with the understanding that it would be turned over to Mrs. Hill if, at the end of five years, they were still man and wife, and no divorce suit or separate maintenance action was pending between them. If at any time he started divorce action the trustee was to pay her the money.

Hill's Charges
In his complaint Mr. Hill made the following charges against his wife:

1: That 90 days after their marriage she went East to put her son by a former marriage in school, and while away she kept company with William Sussman, a furniture salesman she had known before her marriage to Hill.

2: That later she wrote to Sussman endeavoring letters, saying that she still cared for him and would return to him as soon as she got all she expected to get out of Hill.

3: That the publicity that resulted from her separate maintenance suit (filed in Montana) caused him great humiliation and extreme mental suffering.

Charged Extravagance
4: That her two divorce suits (also started in Montana before the couple moved to California) were brought solely to coerce him into paying allowances for her "alleged" support and maintenance.

5: That at all times since the divorce she incurred obligations and lived in an extravagant and lavish manner far beyond his ability to pay.

Mrs. Hill's Answer
6: That she bought $27,000 worth of furniture on credit and also ran up excessive and extravagant charges for presents she gave her friends.

In a cross-complaint, Mrs. Hill accused her husband of infidelity,

ASSESSOR TELLS IN DETAIL WHY TAXES ARE HIGHER

With scores of taxpayers protesting the increased assessed value and higher taxes imposed on real estate this year, County Assessor James Sleeper Friday issued a statement explaining the increase.

In his statement Mr. Sleeper pointed out that county officials are not responsible for the increase in assessed values, as the figures prepared by his office were arbitrarily increased 35 per cent by the state board of equalization. Increased taxes, he said, were caused by the higher rates imposed by many special assessment districts and increased demands on the county budget.

His statement follows:

His Statement
"As assessor of this county I feel it my duty to present the following figures and facts regarding our taxes and assessments."

"I find that 90 per cent of the taxpayers do not know and understand that the valuation I put on their property was increased 35 per cent by an order from the state board of equalization authorizing the county auditor to raise all assessments 35 per cent."

"I want you to know that none of your county officials are responsible for this raise, as the state board of equalization makes the final decision."

SINCLAIR LEWIS

NOVEL BACKGROUND FOR SERMON HERE

Sinclair Lewis' new novel, "It Can't Happen Here," will be the background for the sermon at the Lutheran church tomorrow when the minister, the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, delivers the second of the three sermons in accord with the times, which, under the general title of "Will We Pay?" are considering problems of peace, freedom and security.

The novel by Sinclair Lewis is concerned with the imaginative happenings in America in case she should go the way of Russia, Italy and Germany, and turn her back on the traditions and institutions of democratic government in the desire for more efficiency in government, more equality and security in economic institutions.

Is liberty, as such, worth defending? It is in any danger in America at the present time? From whom? Such are the questions the sermon will present, and the traditional reply of liberal religious leadership will be again demanded. The service is at 11 o'clock.

Copies of Walter Prichard Eaton's essay called "Free Speech" will be given to all who attend.

FULLERTON policemen are getting so fast they'll be meeting themselves coming home from work, if they don't watch out.

Take, for example, the way they recover stolen cars.

A few nights ago they picked up a car and told the owners it was stolen before they knew anything about it, which seems to be the height of efficiency.

Patrolman Ernie Garner found the machine in Hillcrest park. He called the Whittier Building and Loan association registered owners. They peeked into their garage and found that the car was gone.

If criminals don't watch out the cops'll take up mind-reading and arrest 'em before they do any burglarizing in Fullerton.

GARDEN GROVE had one of the most successful C. of C. meetings for some time the other night, all because members were either curious or were easily angered.

Letters were sent all members stating that if merchants wished to increase their business, to attend the meeting. If they didn't, it went on, they should stay away.

After a few more instructions, the letter ended up by advising businessmen to "wake up and crawl out of your shell."

We happen to know that businessmen aren't asleep, and they knew it, too, but they turned out for the meeting, nevertheless, and plans were made for a trade-building campaign and everybody was happy.

SEE where representatives from the coastline are still wrangling about ocean fishing licenses. We'll admit that they're something to wrangle about.

State representatives seem to want to charge every fisherman $2 to angle in the depths. A substitute license law of one dime would be vetoed by the governor, we're told.

Personally, we feel that fishermen wouldn't have kicked too much about a single dollar. But twice that much is twice too much, according to confirmed anglers of our acquaintance.

Imagine that county men snorted up their sleeves when Ted Craig, who attended a meeting with the fish and game commission to aid local boosters, argued that fish might need some education before knowing which hook to bite.

Members of the commission had pointed out that licenses might be required only for certain types of fish. And certain types of fishermen. That brings lots of questions to mind—supposing, for example, an angler without a license caught a fish for which a license was required—would he be allowed to throw his catch back, or would he automatically be liable to arrest?

And, if a licensed angler's catch included a fish for which a license wasn't required, would he throw that'n back?

The fish seem to be the only ones not arguing about the matter—they'll probably go right ahead biting on licensed or unlicensed bait, as usual.

WE HAPPEN to know that Dr. E. C. Moore, Los Angeles, who's head of the commission, means well toward sportsmen of the state—heard Dr. Moore talk once before the Ike Waltons in Fullerton, and we were much impressed by his earnestness and thoughtfulness. Willing to wager that he'll find some way out for the fishermen.

Someone at Newport suggested that fishermen on live bait boats be charged perhaps a nickel each time they go out—they're the ones who use most of the live bait for sportfishing, and a nickel wouldn't hurt, much. That way the state might collect enough to keep Newport's new state patrol boat in commission.

WE'VE heard numerous county residents speak well of Dr. G. C. Huston's plan for the annual Christmas lighting campaign up and down the coastline.

As everyone probably knows, the Costa Mesa man evolved the plan of having a contest between the coast cities for decorations. They started in several years ago, and each year the affair gains in popularity.

This year the theme will be "Peace," with a dove the symbol. In several talks Dr. Huston has urged the necessity of aiding in promotion of world peace, and the lighting group seems happy over selection of this year's theme.

Seems like a perfect time to promote peace, unless someone has stolen your pet pigeon to appear as a symbol in the lighting display. Even an airplane would be hard to promote then.

1000 NEWPORT BEACH CITIZENS AID STRICKEN YOUNG GIRL

$300 GIVEN BY AUDIENCE AT PROGRAM

Treatment Is Assured Victim In Fight On Paralysis

NEWPORT BEACH.—More than 1000 persons last night joined in a movement to rescue a Newport Harbor High school girl from the ravages of paralysis. They attended an entertainment in the high school auditorium at which $300 was contributed at the door.

The proceeds, with $50 in other donations, will assure hospitalization for the girl who is slowly succumbing to the paralytic effects of a cyst in her brain.

Treatment Assured. In order to assure an operation, $1000 was necessary. The $350 will assure the treatment, with the girl's family paying the balance in monthly payments.

Last night's entertainment was cooperated in by every organization in the Newport harbor district. S. H. Davidson, high school principal, and Mrs. J. S. Webster, president of the Costa Mesa Parent-Teacher association, were leaders in the event.

All entertainers donated their services. Pepito, famous Balboa Island clown, was there to delight the audience with his antics. Other contributors to the entertainment were the West School of Dancing; Japanese students of the high school; Wanda Thompson, singer; the high school glee club; Gilman Brookings, trumpeter; the Siegfried chorus, directed by Mrs. Harriet Siegfried Underwood; and John Hart Stout, violinist. A play was presented by the Christ Church by the Sea.

The name of the girl for whose benefit the production was staged has been withheld. Her trouble resulted from a fall which was followed by appearance of the brain cyst. It is understood that she will be taken to a hospital at once.

Johnson, president of the Newport harbor chamber of commerce, yesterday named a committee to take charge of the project. The city will follow the coast line lighting plan to be used by other committees.

Carol singing and attractively decorated and lighted Christmas trees will be features of the celebration.

Mother-and-Son Banquet Planned At Beach City

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A Mother and Son Banquet will be held at the Christian church here, will be the occasion in the church parlors next Tuesday evening. The "Crusaders" a boys' Sunday school class, will be hosts.

A brief program will take place during the hour with Bob White, president of the class, as guest speaker, his subject being "Playing the Game." He said that about 99.4 per cent of the fathers are content to just get by, and most of the boys are like them, too many playing the game in a mediocre way and being only as good as they have to be.

He stressed the point that no one can play football or the game of life by himself, and he cannot advance himself permanently unless he advances all of humanity. In closing, he said the vital thing in life is to get the right spirit and fight with a smile on one's face, the difference in defeat and victory being the spirit within.

Harmonica Band Plays. Music was furnished by the Intermediate Harmonica Band, directed by C. J. Thomas, and composed of Hector Tarango, Robert Gist, Arthur Burton, Charles Reck, Robert Price, Frank Elbert, Weaver Hess, Orville Hatfield and Charles Todd. nyed by Percy Green, also sang two solos.

Lawrence Nichols acted as toastmaster for the Presbyterian group, and introduced the general committee, composed of Carl Stuckey, Earl E. Campbell, Harold Gilron and Ray M. Warren.

Justice Morrison presided. Kenneth Morrison, Santa Ana, addressed the fathers and sons at the Orange Christian church. He said that the character of the son reflects that of the father. In California, out of 17 juvenile delinquents, one comes from homes wherein parents attend church regularly, and 16 from homes where parents do not attend church. Frank Pierce, Santa Ana, led community singing and sang several solos. Competitive games between fathers and sons were held under the direction of Clifford White and R. H. Winters. F. L. Ainsworth returned thanks and Ross Atherton pronounced the benediction. Rev. Franklin H. Minnick, pastor of the church, announced that more than 100 men and boys were present at the affair.

H. B. OIL BOOM PREDICTED

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Possibility of another oil drilling boom here was indicated today when reports were received of proposed development of the old E. J. Miley lease, near the Five Points, by the Twentieth Century Oil Company of Long Beach.

The company is building a derrick over the old hole drilled there some years ago and expect to start operations soon, it was reported. A Long Beach firm originally drilled the Miley well, going to about 4000 feet before lack of funds halted the work. It was reported. Later Mr. Miley continued on to 5000 feet before stopping.

Field scouts have predicted increased leasing activity in the eastern section with development of the old well.

'No Food, No Sleep' Is Rule at 'Limpy's' Laguna Hobo Hostel

By McDONALD WHITE

John "Limpy" Hunter is a short man, dark-skinned, and weighs about 140 pounds. His eyes have a superior, far-away look in them. But that's neither here nor there. The interesting part about Limpy is the way he earns his living.

On the highway between Laguna Beach and Dana Point—near Golf Island, to be exact—is situated "Hobo Hotel," of which Limpy is proprietor. In a little canyon which winds up into the brush-matted hills he has built three tiny shelters big enough only for a bed and a stove. These huts, put together with odd-shaped boards, old rugs, linoleum, roofing paper and rusty slabs of corrugated iron on the roof, are for rent to any congenial "blanket stiff" who comes nosing around in search of grub.

"Limpy" built all three of these places with anything and everything he could scrounge around the countryside. About three years ago he built the first one at the entrance to the canyon. A corner of it can be seen from the highway. Gradually wandering

"knights of the road" began to drop in on him in increasing numbers. They usually packed enough extra grub so that it wasn't long before "Limpy" found he was eating almost entirely off the strangers, who always received a night's lodging in return for their sustaining donations.

That put an idea into his progressive head. "If I build more places for these bums to sleep," he figured with sound business sense, "that'll mean more company and more grub." So he ransacked the country for miles around, carrying a gunny sack over his back wherever he went. Finally he had nailed, tacked, glued and tied together another shelter, which he solemnly called his "climax." And sure enough, it was seldom vacant.

'Food' Is Only Rule. His tenants were rule for his tenants was that they should at all times keep him supplied with food. Not that his tastes were fancy. "Bread'n coffee'll fill a man up." But as long as his stomach was full, rent was free. Limpy wouldn't admit for an instant that he charged rent for his places. "It gets lonely up here, and I like company," he says. But he likes his food, too, and isn't always able to get work.

As time went on the third section of "Hobo Hotel" was added, each one placed at a respectable distance apart, farther up the canyon. His private quarters now, the best of the lot, are reached by a narrow path, which winds through the tall brush. In a clearing no bigger than an average living room stands the "house" and an auxiliary cook stove outdoors.

Similar to the others, the roof is made of several slabs of corrugated iron, the walls of packing-box veneer, tar paper and old rugs and even newspapers tacked to the windy side for warmth. Inside is a bunk with rope springs, a dilapidated chair, a wood stove that can be used for heating or cooking, and a well-thumbed detective story magazine. A big gallon coffee pot, streaked with smudge, rests on the outdoor stove. Not a picture of luxury, but everything a man needs to keep body and soul together.

One Meal A Day. For more than three years "Limpy" Hunter has been supporting himself in the manner in which he is accustomed, which is at least one meal a day and a place to sleep.

When John Hunter was a younger man—he's only 40 now—he worked somewhere up in the great northwest. He won't tell where, and it's nobody's business. But in an experience he doesn't like to talk about, his feet were frozen, so that now he walks with a limp. Thus the "Limpy" became a natural part of his name.

An admirable quality in the make-up of this contented character is the fact that he pays his own way. He pays for what he gets, never begs under any circumstances. His tenants can go out and beg if they have to, but not "Limpy." His business is coming the beach and trash cans for cast-off bottles that bring a price, or collecting old iron, worn out automobile parts, gadgets of every description that can be sold. Oftentimes he is seen trudging along the highway towards home with a sack full of junk over his shoulder, every step an effort because of his frozen feet.

Refuses Charity. "Limpy" has many friends in town, men who have noticed his earnest efforts to earn a living by his wits, perseverance and courage, and they have befriended him, not merely to see how other men live, but because they admire his fortitude. He accepts unearned aid from no one.

One of his friends, who owns a bakery, picked him up on the highway one day. After driving a short distance he offered "Limpy" a loaf of three-day-old nut bread. Here, take this home with you. It will be good with your coffee."

Limpy accepted the bread, then reached into a pocket and handed over a nickel. "That's all I've got now," he said.

Anaheim and Brea Elevens Win, Meet For County Title Next Week

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

GETTING A LOOK AT COUNTY FOOTBALL
SITTING ON THE BENCH with

Anaheim's Dick Glover and Jimmie Heffron, we got our first taste of Orange County league
football yesterday as we watched the Mother Colony squad subdue
Coach Stew White's stubborn
Orange eleven, 14-0.

Much difference between high school football and junior college and college grid contests. They shouldn't be compared, of course,
but each has something the other doesn't. Advanced teams present polished technique via smooth plays and well drilled performers, high school teams retaliate with a youthful zest and fight that make their games
equally as much fun as those of the larger schools.

White's Orangemen were big and stubborn. Glover's Colonists were big, too. Glover had a boy named Beat who sagged a pass
for the first touchdown, shaking off three or four ambitious Orange youngsters on his way to pay dirt. That was the climax of a 50-yard march in the second quarter.

Big thrill, though, came when the Colonists completed the wide-est play—but it netted them 65
yards—that we've ever seen.
Halfback Fee passed a long one to Beat. Beat was about four feet from the sidelines when he connected with the ball. Landing at the same time as the ball were a couple of determined Orange tacklers.

MOST OF US were watching Beat struggle against the tacklers and didn't see him toss
the ball to Schwartz, who was close by. Schwartz, about a foot from the outside line, took the ball on the 30-yard stripe and danced right down to pay dirt.
There's a great example of what high school games offer.
The thrill of the unexpected.

Although the game was no dead
cinch, Coach Glover used every Anaheim man on the bench except Jimmie Heffron, the veteran scrub, was fired up
enough to go in there, too.

If some of the boys on either of these two teams move over to Santa Ana Junior college, Coach Bill Cook should have plenty of reason to be happy, besides being papa of a new sight.

There was Rice, line-cracking Orange fullback. Anaheim has Tanaka, Fee and Schwartz,
backs, and this Beat boy at end.
Love at tackle.

Of course, these are just a few
we were able to single out from watching one game. There are others worthy of mention on two such fired-up teams. We'll catch 'em at the Anaheim-Brea
playoff game next week and report back to you.

COLD NIGHTS NO
GRID DRASTIC
THESE FROSTY evenings don't seem to nip the pep of Coach Cook's junior college eleven. Last night, licking Pomona 26-0, they looked like the team that romped
through Riverside. John Lehn-hardt was a standout in hugging that ball and whoever called the singles was doing a swell job of commanding the team.

Once when the visitors braced
for a stubborn goal line defense,
the team general called a freak-
ish short-back play that sent Fullback Moore over standing up.
The Pomona line was a big pile-driving attack with a big edge of interference. But two of his mates on the line put a small nick in the front wall and Dick stepped through into promised land.

TOMORROW we'll probably be hooting at again because we wrote today of "stars." Someone always reminds us that "it takes 11 men to make a football team." Everyone knows that and we're not denying it when we single out a couple for mention.
It just so happens that the fine
work of blockers and linemen is noticed for the reason that it generally can't be seen from the stands. Therefore, what the "stars" do—when they do it so all can see—is news. And that's what we have to write about.

MICHIGAN STATE BATTLES LOYOLA IN FINAL TILT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16. (AP)—
Michigan State, making its first appearance on the Pacific coast,
today sought to conclude its 1935
football season with an intersectional victory over Loyola university.

That the task will not be easy
despite Loyola's spotty record
this year is indicated by the manner in which in the past Coach Tom Lieb has inspired his Loyola teams to great heights against favored opponents. In 1933, when Southern California was near its peak, the Trojans were only able to eke out a 6-0 victory over Loyola in the last period.

Because both Lieb and Coach
Charles Bachman of Michigan
State are disciples of the late Knute Rockne, a brilliant passing and running game was expected,
and advance ticket sales pointed
to a near capacity crowd of 20,000
in Gilmore stadium.

Of the two teams, the invaders
had by far the better record, but Coach Bachman, hesitant to predict victory, said his team's performance would depend on how far the squad was able to rebound
after two hard games and a transcontinental train trip.

IRISH SCRUBS WIN, TOO

THE NOTRE DAME and Illinois varsities
don't tangle on the gridiron until 1937, but the Irish "B" squad handed the Illini scrubs a 12-7 defeat at South Bend this fall in the first meeting of the Irish and the Illini since 1898, when Notre Dame won, 5 to 0.

Colonists Defeat Orange in Finale

Anaheim and Brea-Olinda, kingpins of Orange County league football, today began marking time
until their championship play-off,
definitely set for a neutral field—
at Fullerton next Friday, 2:15
p. m.

Unbeaten, Dick Glover's Colonists and S. S. (Shorty) Smith's Wildcats closed their books yesterday with a first-place deadlock—
Anaheim won at Orange, 14-0;
Brea crushed Laguna, 26-0.

Other final-round results:
Valencia 6, San Juan Capistrano
6 (tie); Newport Harbor 13, Tustin
0; Huntington Beach 15, Garden
Grove 13.

Dazzling overland maneuvers brought results in Anaheim's crucial with Orange's Panthers, who stood up exceedingly well against an eleven that has been flattening other opposition.

Halfback Wally Fee, big and polished, was on the starting end of both touchdown passes. On the first, with a minute remaining in the second period, he handed the ball on a reverse to Dougherty,
who tossed 14 yards over the goal
to Nolan Beat, sensational end.

The second came in the third quarter and was good for 65 yards. Fee stood on his 45 and passed to Beat, who made a leaping catch in the midst of three opponents on Orange's 30. Just as he was being tackled, he lateraled to Fullback Schwartz, who hot-footed it straight down the sidelines to the promised land.

The play befuddled the Orange players as well as some of the customers.

Orange threatened once in the second half on a long pass which barely fell incomplete with the receiver in the clear. Quarterback Leichtfuss fired it.

MANFREDO AND BERNAL DRAW
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. (AP)—
The boxing rivalry between Al
Manfredo, 148, Fresno, and Joe Bernal, 150, San Francisco, was still unsettled today. They fought ten fast rounds to a draw here
last night in their second meeting of the last few weeks.

In their previous encounters Bernal won a close 10-round decision but the margin between the two was so narrow that they were re-matched. Manfredo had to come from behind, however, to gain an even break from Referee Toby Irwin.

BRAWLEY LEADS LEAGUE
EL CENTRO, Nov. 16. (AP)— Brawley High school topped the standings of the Imperial Valley
league today, despite a 6 to 6 tie
yesterday with the El Centro football team. Members of the league play doubleheaders with each other.
Brawley is undefeated.

Two weeks ago Michigan State topped Temple from the ranks of the unbeaten, 12-7, and last week
bowed to undefeated Marquette, 13-7.

Lieb, striving to match speed
with the middlesters, will start a "pony" backfield centering around Billy Byrne. In the line Loyola will have the weight advantage, with the spotlight on the play of Al Duval, 212-pound tackle who will play opposite Michigan State's highly touted guard, Sidney Wagner.

Michigan State's light backfield,
which demonstrated its scoring
power in crushing Michigan 25-6,
and Kansas 42-0, is composed of veterans, with Dick Colina at quarterback, Kurt Warmbein and Steve Sebo at the halves, and the elusive Arthur Brandstatter at fullback.

SALICA DROPS BANTY TITLE TO ESCOBAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Six-
to Escobar, Puerto Rico, 117½ pounds of fighting fury, today was king of the bantamweights.
The little fellow decisively belted the crown from the cocky brow
of Lou Salica of New York in Madison Square Garden last night.
For 15 rounds, Escobar, weighing ¼ of a pound more than his opponent, played a steady hand tattoo on the features of the same but outclassed New Yorker,
intermittently crossing over right hand smashes which at times had Salica in a bad way.

Wins 14 Rounds
The Associated Press score sheet gave the Puerto Rican 14 of the 15 rounds.

A series
dropped Salica to his haunches
in the third round. The New Yorker deemed it best to stay
down for a count of nine before rising to meet another storm
of leather.

In the fifth, Escobar had his adversary groggy with a series of uppercuts and in the seventh had out his nose with a left jab. He repeatedly steamed punches into Salica's face without a return.

Tris for Knockout
Salica gathered all of his waning strength in the ninth round and sailed in with one intent, to land
a knockout punch. He shot both hands to the jaw with all the power he could muster, backed Escobar to the ropes and kept drilling.

He kept up the barrage through
the tenth and part of the eleventh,
but the Puerto Rican took everything without blinking and finally stalled the outbursts with savage
body blows that sapped Salica's remaining energies.

Pablo Dano, veteran Filipino feath-

decision over Frankie Castillo,
young local Mexican, in a 10-round
bout last night at the Legion stadium here.

Too ringwise and rugged for his youthful opponent, Dano piled up an edge in seven rounds. He weighed 122 pounds and Castillo, 123.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE AT FRANK NAVIN RITES

DETROIT, Nov. 16. (AP)—Baseball said a sad farewell today to Frank J. Navin.

Funeral services for the president of the Detroit Baseball club
were held at the Blessed Sacrament church.

Men high in the councils of the game Navin loved so well,
were there. Presidents of American league clubs, managers, officials from both the American and National leagues, leaders in the business and professional life of Detroit, paid tribute to the man who guided the Detroit Tigers to the city's first world's championship in his final year at the helm.

The fans who supported his team so loyally were there, too,
thousands of them from all walks
of life in the church and outside.
Thousands visited the cemetery.
The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M.
Doyle, chancellor of the Catholic diocese of Detroit, delivered the eulogy at the church.

"His loss to Detroit is inestimable," Msgr. Doyle said. "He imbued this city with a new spir-

EX-HALFBACK OUTCLASSES POMONANS

Garden Grove Freshman
Displays Much Drive
In Back Position

By PAUL WRIGHT

Uncovering a new backfield threat in John Lehnhardt, who drives hard and passes with deadly accuracy at quarterback, Santa Ana's Dons smothered Pomona's
Red Raiders, 26-0, in Eastern conference football here last night.

Walt Hickman, Santa Ana's
all-conference inside halfback,
was forced to leave the game
with a sprained ankle in the second period. He was not seriously hurt, as many believed.

Lehnhardt, versatile Garden Grove boy, has been doing a splendid job at outside half, but Coach Bill Cook saw fit to shift
him to the back position for a while against Pomona. The rangy freshman performed beyond all expectations.

Lehnhardt Scores Early
It was Lehnhardt this and Lehn-
hardt that most of the evening.
John drove 28 yards in six running plays after Quarterback
Bruce Harnois returned a punt to Pomona's 34 in the second period.
And on fourth down bucked the ball over from the 1-foot line for the winning touchdown, 6-0, as the half ended. He missed the conversion.

Early in the third quarter Lehn-hardt unleashed a 27-yard aerial which Bill Greshner, left end, caught on Pomona's 28. On third down he tossed another to Al
Lamb, reserve half, who dashed from the 20 to the 9. Lehnhardt drove 8½ yards in two plays, and Fullback Dick Moore plunged over guard for Santa Ana's second touchdown. Lehnhardt kicked the conversion.

Titusor Recovers Fumble
Al Titusor, right end of the Dons, fell on Quarterback Lopez' fumble on Pomona's 15 late in the third session. Lehnhardt gained two, Lamb three, and Lehnhardt
five for a first down to the five.
On fourth down in the next series,
Lehnhardt passed to Lamb to the 6-yard mark, and Lamb stumbled to a third touchdown. Lehnhardt's conversion kick was blocked, making the score 19-0.

The only touchdown play in which Lehnhardt did not figure occurred late in the final quarter when Herbert faded back to mid-field and uncorked a long toss to End Jack Wilson on the 17. Wilson fought off two tacklers in wiggling his way to the goal, and Herbert made the conversion to wind up the scoring at 26-0.

Prior to the Herbert-Wilson
pass, Santa Ana's fifth-string safety, petite Raymond Sides, thrilled the audience with a 38-
yard run to Pomona's 9-yard line,
but his fumble on fourth down
gave the Red Raiders possession on their seven. Sides tripped and fell in the clear at the end of his long jump.

Offside Penalty Hurts
An offside penalty cost the Dons
a touchdown early in the first period. Major Anderson, hard-trying little safety, intercepted a pass
from Lopez and returned it to Pomona's 34. He and Fullback Moore drove to the 20, and Lehn-hardt shot a pass to Greshner,
who caught it on the 11, wheeled and raced to the 4. Anderson
skirted right end to cross the goal,
but the play was nullified.

Oliver McCarter, the Dons' yard-devouring backfield flash, was kept on the bench, Cook taking no
chances in getting his star injured
before the grand winchup with Fullerton here Tuesday. With several Fullerton scouts in the stands, the Dons did not dig very deep into their bag of tricks. . . .
Pomona was a well-coached outfit
with a fancy attack, but most of the tackles made by the Red Raiders
were feeble. . . .

a summer art colony at Asheville,

BALDWIN BEGINS JOB OF REBUILDING CABINET FOLLOWING ELECTION

HAS WEIGHTY PROBLEMS TO SOLVE

One Is Way To Counter Defeat Of His Aide, Ramsey MacDonald

LONDON, Nov. 16. (P)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin undertook the task of rebuilding his cabinet today, secure in the knowledge that he would be backed by a heavy government majority in the house of commons.

In the rural peace of his official residence at Chequers, he had a number of weighty problems to solve. Among them was a means of countering the sensational defeat of his lieutenant, former Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald.

One Labor Member Left

With the failure in Thursday's general election of both MacDonald-Ramsay, the father, lord president of the council, and Malcolm, the son, colonial secretary—J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, remained the only successful Labor member of the old cabinet.

Veteran observers said Baldwin must change this situation to maintain the national aspect of the government.

Political spokesmen commented freely that Ramsay MacDonald, defeated for re-election to commons in his labor constituency of Seaham and describing himself as a "completely done-in old man," hoped to retire from politics and devote his time to writing.

May Be 20 In Cabinet

If the former prime minister was determined on this course, informed sources said, Malcolm might be asked to find a safe national Labor seat in parliament and join the new cabinet.

The general view seemed to be that the re-shuffled cabinet would number 20 instead of 22.

Anthony Eden's post as minister without portfolio for League of Nations affairs, might be one of those abolished, leaving Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare in sole charge of foreign affairs.

Firm in Foreign Policy

Some sources expressed belief Eden would go to the dominions ministry. Others suggested he might be the next war secretary, replacing Viscount Halifax, who was believed to be eager to retire.

In any case, authoritative sources said the government would remain firm in its foreign policy, including solid support of league sanctions against Italy and efforts to halt the Fascist warfare on Ethiopia.

Winston Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty, still was expected to be a cabinet recruit, but whether he would return to the admiralty became doubtful in the light of his recent open criticisms of Germany.

HOPKINS HAS GREAT JOBS GOAL AHEAD

WPA Chief Faces Task Of Putting 500,000 To Work Weekly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (P)—Five hundred thousand jobs a week was the task facing Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator, today to reach his goal of having 3,500,000 relief recipients at work by Dec. 1.

The latest figures showed 290,194 were given employment in the week ended Nov. 9. This indicated to some officials that Hopkins would not be entirely successful unless added speed was shown in getting projects under way.

2,009,339 At Work

At the last count 2,009,339 persons were at work—some 1,490,661 short of the administration's objective.

Nevertheless, Hopkins is proceeding with his intention of shutting off all direct federal relief to states by Dec. 1, and to date has cut off 26 states from the so-called "dole."

Encouragement Seen

Some encouragement in the employment drive was found in the fact that Comptroller General J. R. McCarl yesterday released $175,000,000 of the last $200,000,000 set aside for Public Works administration projects under Secretary Ickes.

Ickes at once notified state PWA directors to instruct the municipalities receiving these allotments "to proceed without delay."

PARTY HONORS PASTOR AND BRIDE

Third in the series of surprise parties given for the Rev. Gerhard Schmooch and his bride was the shower which members of his church, the First Lutheran church of Burbank, had planned for him last night in that city.

The group went to the new home of the pastor in a group, showering the young couple with groceries and canned fruits, a set of dishes from the ladies' aid society, and a purse.

The Rev. William Schmooch of the Trinity Lutheran church and Mrs. Schmooch, parents of the bridegroom, were also guests at the party.

The second series of classes on the pre-adolescent child will open Wednesday, Nov. 20, in room 314 of the courthouse annex from 9 to 11 o'clock. Outside school activities, such as music, dramatics, dancing and art, will be discussed.

SWAMPED BY CLIPPER MAIL

Postoffice Hires 50 Extras

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. (P)—The rush of the philatelists to get envelopes aboard the China Clipper when the plane inaugurates trans-Pacific air mail service to Manila Nov. 22 is worse than the dime chain letter craze last year, Postmaster William H. McCarthy declared today.

"We have received 50,000 letters to date to be mailed," he said. "It's worse than the dime chain letter craze of a year ago, principally because most everyone misunderstands the instructions."

Here Are Instructions

He explained that stamp and cachet collectors desiring to dispatch envelopes to Manila on the first plane should send him a large envelope containing a self-addressed letter and a money order for 75 cents.

McCarthy will affix three 25-cent trans-Pacific stamps and mail the letter, which will be canceled at stops en route to Manila and then returned via steamer. The postage rate is 25 cents a half ounce to Honolulu, 50 cents to Guam and 75 cents to Manila.

For Eastward Trip

If a collector desires a letter to come from Manila on the first eastward plane, he should send it to McCarthy in a large envelope containing a letter addressed to the postmaster of Manila, with a money order for 78 cents. Another money order for 75 cents also should be enclosed for McCarthy, making the total cost $1.53. A self-addressed letter should be placed inside the envelope for the Manila postmaster. Then he will place it on the eastbound plane.

McCarthy said it will be impossible to get one envelope with all cancellations for the westward and eastward flight.

Fifty extra men, he added, are working on the deluge of trans-Pacific mail.

FILIPINO QUOTA UNCHANGED

Immigration Ratio Told Here

It was a tough job for Filipinos to get into the United States before the Philippine islands became independent of this country, and it is going to be just as tough from now on. The Philippines have had an immigration quota of 50 per year since June, 1934. The transfer of the reins of government from the United States to the islands yesterday will have no effect on this quota.

Franklin Davis, immigration inspector here, cleared up this situation today when he explained the regulations governing Filipino immigration. The act of congress approved March 24, 1934, provided for the complete independence of the islands, which went into effect yesterday. Since the act of March 24, 1934, there have been several deportations from Southern California, including two Filipinos from Bakersfield, in whose cases the white slave act was involved.

There also is an act enabling the government to send back to the islands those destitute Filipinos who apply for the transfer. However, the last congress failed to appropriate funds for this purpose, and applications have come in more slowly than was anticipated, Mr. Davis said.

Filipinos are ineligible to citizenship on the same ground that other Orientals are barred, since they are not members of either the white or the African race. The only exceptions to this rule are made in the cases of Filipinos who have served in the United States navy. Also, those Filipinos who have been lawfully admitted to this country may go back to the Philippine islands to visit, and return to the United States.

Another exception to the rules is that Filipino laborers may be admitted to the Hawaiian Islands regardless of the quota, the number to be admitted being determined by the department of the interior on the basis of the need for labor in Hawaii. Filipinos may not come to the continental United States from Hawaii except under quota provisions.

He said he did not believe the best plan for crop insurance was a guarantee of returns equivalent to labor and seed as Cogswell proposed. "That has been tried and it was not so successful," said the economist, "because of the fluctuation in costs."

PROPOSAL TO INSURE CROP IS OFFERED

Delegates To Grange Convention Hear Of New Plan

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16. (P)—Crop insurance to give the farmer protection against extremes of nature, such as the drought of 1934, might well be a part of any long-term plan for agriculture in the opinion of V. N. Valgren, government farm expert.

A program attacking the payment of benefits for commodities not produced and including a plank of crop insurance as well as other changes in the Agricultural Adjustment act was presented to the National Grange yesterday.

Kansans Offers Plan

C. G. Cogswell, Kansas Grange master, introduced the plan in the form of a resolution, which the national body was asked to adopt as an expression of policy.

Valgren, principal agricultural economist of the Farm Credit administration, said he felt that steps to overcome the lack of protection of the farmer against the elements should be a major objective in the efforts being made to re-establish agriculture.

STEELS LEAD STOCKS TO NEW HIGHS

Specialties Favorites Of Bullish Interest In Day's Session

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Steels and specialties were the bullish favorites in today's stock market, while profit taking stemmed the advance in a few other sections of the list.

Many new four-year highs were established during the brief session and rising sales failed to shake the majority of the leaders. Activity was the best for a Saturday since the spring of 1934. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,450,000 shares.

Wall Street still seemed to be under the influence of administrative assurances that "breathing spell" for business will not be disturbed.

Among share gainers of fractions to around 2 points, finishing near their best levels of the day, were Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Inland Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Associate Iron Works, J. C. Penney, Great Western Sugar, National Acme, Omnibus Corp., Budd Wheel, Atlas Tack, Evans Products, Mack Truck, Case, Deere, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Air Reduction and Minnesota-Moline paper.

Here's New Idea
For Stimulating
Christmas Trade

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 16. (AP)—
This city is going on a silver standard. Employers have agreed to pay wages in silver dollars
until Christmas.

"The idea," explained the chamber of commerce, "is that the bulkiness of the coins will inspire
a desire to get rid of them and thus stimulate Christmas shopping."

To Mrs. Anne Van Steenberg:

Often I hear of your community activities at Midway City. Now it's the boys' "hobby hour" you have started. This is just a line of appreciation to a good mother and a good neighbor. May the county have more of your kind!

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Lester Fountain:

Les, old boy, you made things mighty comfortable during The Journal's three-day cooking school. I dropped in one day and heard a lot of fine comment about the manner in which the crowds were handled and the courtesy displayed by your ushers. A lot of things could have gone wrong without your cooperation.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Margaret S. Lackland:

As the economist in charge of the largest cooking school ever held in Southern California outside of the metropolitan cities, you are to be congratulated. There are few persons holding similar positions who are able to fill the Broadway theater to overflowing three days and on the third day fill the Veterans' hall besides. And—thanks for the cake.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Hazel Blair Dodd, Marian Manners and Prudence Penny:

My wife has enough recipes from you ladies to last through a long winter and if I can scrape up the dough to supply them all, I'll be very much in the pink when I see you again. You certainly helped put The Journal cooking school over in a big way. And you made a lot of friends.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Self Government Committee, Santa Ana High School:

I note that you have drawn up rules prohibiting smoking on or near school grounds, cutting classes, parking in teachers' driveways, noise and disorder between school tents, gambling such as dice and penny matching, defacing of property, reckless driving and horn honking, misconduct at athletic events, disorderly conduct, etc. I note you forgot to include robbery, arson and first degree murder. Or don't they count?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Santa Ana Police:

I have noted the diligence with which you are enforcing the parking ordinance. Some friends of mine this week said they didn't like it. Of course not—when they get tickets. There is only one leeway I would give, if I were a police officer. I would certainly hesitate to tag a visiting car or one that brought trade to Santa Ana without being very certain the violator was willful or an habitual offender. This town needs friends. The Santa Ana resident who drives his car downtown in the morning and leaves it all day in a restricted zone, is another story.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Terry Stephenson:

Congratulations on an assured continuation of your public activity. To lose you from the public service would be like the play of Hamlet with the old boy out of the picture. Never felt like you had that sense of security and satisfaction for the past few years that usually goes with the postoffice job, anyway. Too many Democrats looking in all the time. Sort of gave a fellow a feeling that they were holding a consultation all the time. Now you can tell 'em: "Come and take it," and that's what you did. Will see you at the courthouse sometime. You're goin' to handle the money, ain't you?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To "Sidewalk" Engineers:

I don't know why we employ flood control engineers when there are so many of you around with nothing else to do but think up new ways to kill water bonds. It seems it was entirely wrong to seek the advice of Mr. Etcheverry and his associates on the flood control project with so many learned gentlemen on the street to tell us what to do. Also, the United States army engineers who made the survey of the Santa Ana river undertaking, must be grafters or queer in the head. Only yesterday I saw where they refused to accept the proposed modified dam and said the federal money would be withheld if Orange county tried to follow the Browning-Finckle project. Also I note that the folks who always opposed any dam at all, now have the entire matter in the hands of Riverside county supervisors and must depend on them to let us use the upper Prado site. I don't suppose the brains that killed the water bonds Oct. 4 with undercover operations and then thought out the modified plan to muddy the water, had any idea the new scheme would have to be submitted to Riverside. I don't suppose it was ever dreamed that Riverside would insist on an impossible Shylock trade before they granted permission to build on the Riverside side of the line. Well, if the author or authors of that modified idea didn't know all this, they are just having a great run of luck. No combination of circumstances one could imagine would more certainly assure the defeat of any flood control or water conservation plan. Some of you "sidewalk" engineers will have to admit that much.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Everyone now and then should muggle up from the deep fathoms of slumber between the hours of 4 and 5 a. m. It's the climatic hour when all existence seems to pause as though swooped into sudden, bewildering stillness. Poised to plunge or go on. Hospitals recognize it and nurses become especially tip-toe. It is the hour when the slender cord of life so often snaps, that hour when night throws off its shadowy cloak, to become another day.

Everything seems potent. One is riding between a world that has gone and a world being born. No coloring is so exquisite as that suffusing sheen of an approaching day. This morning I saw a star twinkle out and in the frozen quiet it became a flash of drama.

A fluff of cloud that ordinarily would pass unnoticed took on the quality of wonder, changing from gray to sea water green to shell pink and then in a chiffring burst of splendor to the blood-red poppy. A prelude to that disk of polished copper that is the sun.

Morning's benediction, too, ferries memories across the Stygian blackness. In the mental coddling of this serene hour I thought somehow of a bantering, dancing girl we saw one night in a sea-front cabaret in Marseilles. Our boat pulled out at dawn and we were making a night of it. Upon invitation she came to our table, giggled over efforts to speak a few words in our tongue and was gone. She had no especial beauty or charm. It was a trivial interlude in a welter of several weeks travel excitement. Yet whenever the four at that cafe get together one or the other never fails to recall the dancing girl. One wonders why such a lasting impression.

Faces. Incidents. Faces. Drifting out of the past in arabesque array. The croupier at the Monte Carlo Sporting club, a Chicago newsboy who knew Dick Griner, so long abroad he spoke English with a French accent. The nobly sired son of a Liverpool ship builder who became a rachitic drug addict, a shuffling guide for the rutty balsa masque in the infamous Rue de Lappe. The day Bernhardt took 17 bows at the Palace. The fire-eating composing room foreman, Jack Anderson, of the old Evening Mail. That Fred Stone entrance at the Globe where he shot up through the floor in a foam of home made beer. The faked murder Ray Long and Jack Quirk staged at a dinner for Edgar Wallace at the Metropolitan. The fire-eating everybody stiff save Wallace. The "Building a Stairway to Paradise" finale in the Scandals. Montague Glass laughing at his own hilarious Jewish stories.

And swirling across from some forgotten latitude a dinner at Tony Faust's in St. Louis. And Lillian Russell, on tour, in a sweepstake entrance after theater trailed by Weber and Fields in person. Doc Perry's back-to-the-prescription-case haven on Park Row and his three better customers, Don Clarke, Frank O'Malley and Joe O'Neill. The freakish variety turns at Tammany's "The Talking Dog." The Stokes' Show Girls and Solly the ticket-taker tenor. Charlie Van Loan's baseball stories. Crowds watching the basement presses in Herald Square. The soda fountain at Siegel and Cooper's Winter Garden Sunday nights which spawned the first meet of a ceremony. Visiting ball players lounging in front of the Ansonia, small town fashion. When hectic night life had its peak at a place called The Pekin, where Vincent Lopez first played "Nola." Ah, memories!

That period when the wind was in our faces! New York an hourly adventure with a May wind tingle. The world metropolis jangling a silhouette of high spires against a blue sweep of ocean. And Broadway, the rue of rues, gleaming white like the cicatrix of an ancient and honorable wound. A street that had not begun its nickleodeon slide. It had tradition, pride and pomp. Fifth avenue was signless with no shops or stores above 46th street. Mrs. Belmont's coach and high spirited four caroled southward at the 5 o'clock promenade. There was an awesomeness of life. Everybody wanted to rise, get on, be somebody.

The good old days! Of course, they were. Days of such opulence, so spangled with hope. No communistic jeers for Washington and Jefferson principles. No rude and throttling taxation. Days I do not believe will ever come again to you or to me, to our children or their children.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Only a few White House insiders are aware of the speed exerted by the President to conclude a commercial agreement with Canada before Armistice day.

When Premier Mackenzie King arrived in Washington, he was en route for a holiday in Florida. But his conversations with Roosevelt progressed so favorably that he about-faced to Ottawa on Sunday. On Sunday night, the President outlined the main portion of the Armistice day speech which he was to deliver the next morning at 11 o'clock. But he left one section blank.

That section referred to his agreement with Mackenzie King. The speech was to be delivered at 11 a. m. He had told the Canadian premier he would give him until 10:30 to know whether the Canadian cabinet approved the accord.

To this end, Mackenzie King had called his cabinet together at 9:30—a few minutes after he stepped off the train. Before 10:30 they had approved the full agreement—which includes 700 items.

FORGET EUROPE

BEHIND this burst of speed was a definite and important new policy of the Roosevelt administration.

As outlined to some of his closest advisers just before his Armistice day speech, Roosevelt believed that with Europe in turmoil, the United States must turn much more to the western hemisphere.

That was why he was so anxious to be able to announce an agreement with Canada. Even more important, it was why he was willing to risk the resentment of the farm vote.

For the tentative agreement Roosevelt made with Mackenzie King included tariff reductions on such commodities as milk, cheese, butter, cattle on the hoof and certain grades of wheat.

ARGENTINE TREATY

THE TREATY is a sweeping document. Its 700 items go just as far if not further than famous reciprocity treaty proposed by Taft.

How politically risky it is may be indicated by the President's reluctance to negotiate a tariff treaty with Argentina.

More than two years ago he gave a definite pledge of an Argentine commercial treaty. The commodities involved were less than half a dozen, all agricultural, but none highly competitive with the United States. Because of spasmodic protests from the farm belt, however, the President has given the Argentine treaty a wide berth.

The day after announcement of the Canadian treaty, the Argentine government demanded a definite yes or no answer as to whether Roosevelt meant business. What he answers will be a test of the future Roosevelt policy of forgetting Europe and strengthening inter-American relations.

be exempt from at least economic penetration.

How that penetration may operate was disclosed by an incident which took place recently on the southern island of Mindanao. This island is dominated by the Moros—all Mohammedan—who refuse to lease their land to the Japanese.

Christian Filipinos on Mindanao, have leased considerable land to the Japanese, much to the resentment of the Moros, who rose against them last summer and massacred one colony.

The Japanese government, strangely enough, made no protest or claim for this outrage, although, under international law, they were entitled to damages.

Reason for this failure was reported to have been Tokyo's unwillingness to disclose the large number of Japanese on Mindanao. (There are reported to be 30,000, though this figure cannot be confirmed.)

It is not a long step from claiming damages to landing troops. Two thousand Japanese were landed in Shanghai last week to atone for the murder of one marine. Several hundred Japanese were killed in Mindanao.

JAPANESE FISHERMEN?

AMERICAN officials in the Philippines have reported many instances of espionage activities by Japanese fishing vessels during the past three years.

Frequently the vessels, though disguised as fishermen, have been commanded by Japanese naval officers.

Not long ago, a United States army intelligence officer in Manila intercepted a radio message sent from one of these fishing vessels which he could not understand.

To get a translation he took it to the Japanese consul in Manila. Note—His superiors in Washington, who got a report on the incident, are still wondering whether the officer was naive, or wanted to show the Japanese consul that American officials were wise to the espionage activities.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Though the radical Commonwealth college in Arkansas has not yet received aid from National Youth administration, Aubrey Williams, director of NYA, would like to give it. Among the $250,000 worth of books being purchased for CCC libraries is included, "How to Develop Your Personality." Fechner turned thumbs down.

INDIANS VISIT ORIENT

FAIRFAX, Okla. (AP)—No Indian from the Osage country, blessed with oil incomes, has ever before ventured on so long a journey as Paul Beartrack, globe-trotting Cheyenne, and his Osage wife, who have returned from a trip half way around the world. Some Indians of Oklahoma have been as far as France, but the Beartracks were said to be the first to visit the Orient.

The School and Social Change

HUMAN society is a changing thing, thereby differing from that of ants and bees. These tiny creatures, with marvelous instincts for group action, remain now what they always were. They can do nothing now that ants and bees have not done since first they crawled and zimmered their insect ways.

HUMAN societies differ markedly in their rate of change. Primitive tribes may move along their placid ways for countless generations without appreciable change. Oriental nations, hoary with tradition and burdened with custom, may dig heels in grooves and refuse to budge. But by turning enough pages of their history one can notice a movement, glacier-like but still measurable.

AMERICA has done many things to the world. It has upset many international apple carts. It has shot numerous holes in ancient conservatism and pushed back many time-honored horizons. It has held up the banners of movement, of change, of surging forward to further conquests. It has always meant pressing on to new positions, to the hungry mil-

Remarkable Remarks

The horse and buggy argument was pressed by King John at Runnymede (and) by every ambitious executive who at any time during the 720 years since Magna Charta has chafed under constitutional restraints—Gilbert H. Montague, New York attorney.

Women want peace and they will fight for it, paradoxical though that may sound. Wars are made by men and sometimes they are unavoidable. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, noted champion of women's rights.

The truth is, the Germans prefer inside slavery from a government that is willing to rescue them from outside slavery by the entente. Frau Schirmacher-Obeken, German woman visiting United States.

My friend Martin Murray, the Huntington Beach weather prophet, sends me a discouraging viewpoint about weather conditions for the rest of the winter, and fears a "long dry season, less rain and more wind." Just admittin' the hunch that this has been surging about my veins I'm inclined to agree with Murray. Hope we are both wrong, and I want rain so badly would be willing to take a chance with the "disastrous floods" which proponents of the water program predict. Murray says breezy east winds block the Alaskan low, and as long as that condition prevails "there ain't goin' to be no rain."

The contractors have unveiled another member of the gargoyles family. This one shows a family resemblance. They all look like Senator Jim Ham Lewis of Illinois. Ball and Hammer slipped in an extra on the boys, and Abou Ben Adam, he led all the rest. He has preferred position, top of column, next to reading matter. Oh, well, the addition of another member of the Smith Bros. family only calls for another shave. The taxpayer can do the coughing.

You know I get around this town some, converse with a few peeps every day, and stop long enough to look into display windows. I'm not an expert on electrical appliances, but you couldn't get me to go out of town to buy one. If I knew a lot about negligence wouldn't admit it because that might incriminate me, but from what I have been able to observe and with a limited understanding about "such things," you couldn't get me to go to Los Angeles to buy 'em. And as has I need a new suit I'd go nude—by police permission—before you could get me into an out-of-town coat and hat store. There is plenty of good furniture here, and if the occasion develops when you need flowers they're here too. Fact is there isn't a merchandizing line that I know of that isn't fully covered by the Santa Ana merchants. My trouble hasn't been finding the merchandise. It's been finding the money to buy it.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

My friend Terry Stephenson always lands on his feet. Oh, course they had him in a hospital for several weeks, but the righteous started to pray for him, and he got right up again with the help of good doctors and competent nurse. So about the time the Democrats want the place he now occupies, an incident over which he had no control, but would have prevented if he had, places him in a courthouse position. Now if there is anybody in the county on the outside of the courthouse, who knows as much about what is going on inside, it's Terry. So he might just as well go inside and look out, and here's good luck to him. But what I have always feared has come to pass—Terry is now on the county.

Through some inadvertence the name of Stanley Morgan did not appear in the list of those who participated in George Crawford's birthday anniversary surprise party, but was he there! That boy never missed a plate. I saw enough of Stan's performance to convince me that a turkey never gets to pass his way but once. And was he there!

Lovely lady says: "Skinny, why didn't you tell me you had a better day, and I would have kissed you." Now, have I got to wait another year, or change the date?

I haven't any authority to apologize to anyone for anything, but I would like to venture the regrets of this organization to those ladies who came over from Placentia and Fullerton and other out-of-town cities, to attend The Journal cooking school, and were unable to get into either the Broadway theater or the American Legion hall, due to capacity attendance.

Postcard from New Orleans where the American Bankers Association is in annual convention shows Lafayette Square, the city hall, the postoffice, Placentia newspaper building and the First Presbyterian church. Why is it they always put a church near a newspaper office?

Good friend leaves Christmas seal literature at our office and said I agreed to say something about it in this column, and if she said so that settles it. So when you get your supply of seals keep 'em but return a dollar, so that your contribution may go to control and prevent tuberculosis in this country. This is a movement independent of the Red Cross campaign. The Christmas seals campaign is now conducted by the National Tuberculosis association. Your contribution goes to pay for free clinics, nursing service, and other medical and social research.

Bert Campbell hands me a pamphlet and says there is some good stuff in it. And Bert ought to know. He thinks I don't.

My friend Martin Murray, the Huntington Beach weather prophet, sends me a discouraging viewpoint about weather conditions for the rest of the winter, and fears a "long dry season, less rain and more wind."
